TOP LEFT: Having bought an existing house, the home owners required an architectural overhaul in order to create their home. Existing spaces were renovated and updated, and additional living spaces were added. The interior of the home maintained a neutral palette, while old and new decor pieces were reworked and arranged for the new home.

ABOVE: For their family pool, the home owners wanted a child-safe pool while maintaining an attractive designer finish. The PowerPlastics Energy-saving Safety Cover forms a complete barrier over the water and is secured by a tamperproof system. The cover limits algae growth, reduces filtration by half, and saves water by curbing evaporation.

All that remains of the original house is its outer shell. A sweeping view of the ocean was an important component of the home owner's brief for her new space, which she was able to beautifully capture from the master bedroom.

The interior of the home was designed to accommodate visits from a large family – the ground floor is open-plan, bright and spacious. This space – encompassing the lounge, entertainment area and dining room – enables the family to spend time together, but allows for privacy too, if it's desired.

The "braai-room", an enclosed patio that can open up into the main house and onto the garden area, is an integral part of the family's lifestyle. When the weather co-operates, with the stacking doors and shutters open, the family is able to enjoy the sunshine, swimming pool, garden and glorious views beyond. Should the wind or rain intrude, the glass stacking doors are closed, but, together with the overhead skylight, allow natural light in, and the family is still able to make use of the pizza oven, braai and seating space.

When it's something more traditional on the menu, the kitchen is a cook's delight. Spacious and modern, it is furnished in chic white, complemented by integrated silver appliances. Recipe books and objets are tokens of collected experiences, and add colour and feeling to the area.

When it came time for this home owner to relocate, a charming seaside retreat presented itself as the perfect contrast to her fast-paced city life. A brand-new beginning that still allowed for the "incorporation of memories" from previous homes, this beach house is an eclectic mix of Victorian, classic modern and contemporary styles.

By means of a contemporary glass and steel staircase, flanked by a wall of gilded artworks, one reaches the master bedroom. The room and its en-suite bathroom showcase a Victorian-meets-modern style. The vintage-styled bedroom has a classic design, while the bathroom is a modern delight. This is the home owner's beloved "den" – a space where she can enjoy life on her terms, whether by relaxing in a leisurely bath or taking in the views that surround her. ■

TOP RIGHT: Taylor Blinds & Shutters installed ShutterGuard Aluminium Security Shutters for these home owners. The shutters offer a security solution for doors and windows, while maintaining the home's aesthetic. The shutters seamlessly open up a room or space, controlling light, noise and temperature, and provide a secure barrier when locked.

LEFT: Sunplan Frameless specialises in German glass systems and the installation of frameless glass stacking doors, tailored to specific needs with advanced-quality products. All of the aluminium and glass work in this home was completed by Sunplan Frameless, including the German stacking doors, Palace sliding doors, glass balustrades, roof lights and showers.

BELOW: Keeping in touch with technology is simple, sophisticated and convenient for the owners of this home. The Modern Group has fitted the home with a Schneider C-BUS Lighting Control and Russound Distributed Audio Control system. A full HD TV network infrastructure and distributed music control in each room can be enjoyed at any time.
